Environmental Policy

The University of Limassol acknowledges its responsibility to operate in a manner that respects and protects the environment. As an institution committed to academic excellence, the university recognizes that its educational, research, and operational activities contribute to an environmental footprint. In response, the university is dedicated to mitigating this impact through responsible practices, continuous improvement, and active community engagement. Sustainability is viewed as a collective responsibility, with efforts directed towards involving students, staff, and faculty in fostering a more sustainable and environmentally conscious university community.

Legal Compliance

Follow all environmental laws and regulations that apply to the university.

Energy and Water Use

Reduce energy and water consumption through smart planning, maintenance, and the use of efficient systems.

Promote responsible use of heating, cooling, lighting, and water across campus.

Waste Reduction and Recycling

Reduce waste at the source, encourage re-use, and support recycling across all departments.

Provide clearly marked bins for paper, plastics, glass, batteries, and other materials.

Clean Air and Pollution Control

Reduce emissions and limit pollution from university activities.

Sustainable Transport

Encourage the use of public transport, cycling, walking, and car sharing to lower the environmental impact of commuting.

Education and Awareness

Promote environmental awareness through communication, events, and educational initiatives, so that every member of the university understands their role in protecting the environment.

Continuous Improvement

Regularly review and improve our environmental practices.

Progress each year and stay responsive to new environmental challenges and opportunities.

This policy applies to all members of the university community. Through shared responsibility and collective action, we aim to contribute to a more sustainable future for the University of Limassol and the wider society.
